We proudly present daily:

Kapelle Otto Schwarzfischer

Under the direction of Christian Sachs, this band achieves the balance between traditional brass band and Oktoberfest Schlager music.

Starting at 8 p.m.

SÜDHERZ

A real musical fireworks display is set off when the 10 musicians of SÜDHERZ take to the stage with their wide-ranging program, a production that is filled with show elements and includes a repertoire of sounds that ranges from chart hits to cult German songs known as "Schlager". The result is an unforgettable party mood from start to finish.

AKTION ZUKUNFT+

The Festhalle Schottenhamel supports a campaign called Zukunft+ (Future+) sponsored by Munich and Ebersberg counties. In this program, we purchase Zukunft+ certificates to offset the CO₂ emissions created by the Oktoberfest.

A portion of this money goes to support projects in countries of the Global South. The remainder of our money finances a project called "Forest Conversion in the Ebersberg Forest – Fall Planting Season." Our motto is: avoid, reduce and compensate as a last resort. Companies interested in supporting the Zukunft+ campaign must initially take steps to reduce their own emissions to qualify for the program.

158 years of tradition at the Festhalle Schottenhamel

Since 1950, the lord mayor of Munich has been charged with the responsibility of tapping the first keg in the Schottenhamel tent – and shouting the legendary words "Ozapft is!" (it's tapped) when the deed is done. Christian Ude and Dieter Reiter hold the record for the fewest strikes needed to hammer the tap home: They pulled off the trick with just two strikes – and multiple times at that. Back in 1950, Lord Mayor Thomas Wimmer needed an exhausting 17 strikes to get the job done.
